SUMMARY

In 2019 I received a software engineering certificate through the University of California Berkeley Extension. I am seeking to apply my experience in the veterinary and medical fields to the practice of software engineering. I am a bi-cultural (Latino American) full stack software developer who wishes to gain skill in creating responsive and functional web applications. I have hands-on experience working with front and back-end technologies in a team setting. I enjoy working with others to research and implement solutions. I am an effective communicator with an ability to work well under pressure.
